Question A.1

Executive summary

Please provide an executive summary of the report that will allow general readers to understand the overall status of legislative, regulatory and other measures taken at the national level to implement the Convention. This should follow the organizational structure of the form.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia ratified the Convention for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage UNESCO by Law No. 3299 on December 12, 2005, it has six elements inscribed on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity - UNESCO: The Carnival of Oruro, 2008; The Andean Cosmovision of the Kallawaya, 2008; Ichapekene Piesta: the main festival of San Ignacio de Moxos, 2012 and the Pujllay and Ayarichi. music and dances of the Yampara culture, 2014; The Ritual Tours in the City of La Paz during Alasita, 2017; Festivity of the Holy Trinity of the Gran Poder, 2019, also has an element inscribed in the Register of Good Practices of UNESCO that is the Multinational Project: Safeguarding the Intangible Cultural Heritage of the Aymara Communities of Bolivia, Chile and Peru, in the 2009. From the ratification of the Convention in 2009 to the present, various measures have been taken for its implementation at the national and international level, being a priority for the State at the central, local and regional levels.

The institutions in charge of implementing the Convention are the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization in coordination with the Autonomous Departmental, Municipal and Indigenous Peasant Original Governments, establishing actions for the safeguarding of intangible cultural heritage. One of these actions is the management for the declarations as intangible cultural heritage at the national and international level, since the first inscriptions to the Representative List of Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity caused a multiplier effect for the safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage at the level local, national and international.

For the implementation of the strategies for the safeguarding of the intangible cultural heritage, one of the fundamental pillars is the participation and consent of the community, this has allowed to promote processes of community participation such as the creation of the Departmental Councils of Cultures in the nine Governorates Departmental; in the work of the projects of declaration of Cultural Heritage of the Plurinational State of the cultural elements whose bearers clearly identify.

At the international level, the implementation of the Convention has resulted in the inscription of six nominations to the Representative List and an evaluation process that has provided the opportunity to raise awareness at the local level about the importance of intangible cultural heritage in the development of a national cultural identity, as a factor of social cohesion and as an indisputable motor of social development and the strengthening of cultural identities in the host communities, all from a perspective of respect for cultural diversity and the promotion of human creativity, as stated You will see throughout the particular reports of the elements inscribed in the Representative List present in this report. Another action has been the implementation of training workshops by the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization to Inter-institutional Promoting Committees, providing the tools for the preparation of files at the national and international level, especially the preparation of safeguarding plans and inventories. On the other hand, the bilateral and multilateral cooperation of Bolivia has been promoted.

It is important to highlight that the Plurinational State of Bolivia has a new institution responsible for the management of cultural heritage in the territory, this as a result of a period of social and political crisis that it went through between November 2019 and November 2020, where the The transitory government abolished the former Ministry of Culture and Tourism, an aspect that represented a destabilization that put the Bolivian cultural heritage at risk; however, currently the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization is the head of the cultural sector.

Please provide any comments in the box below

It is important to establish that due to the sanitary crisis and the political crisis through which the Plurinational State of Bolivia went had a huge damage on the management of culture in all of its areas. Our former Ministry of Cultures and Tourism was closed during 2020 by the transitorial government, this fact affected on our continuing coordination with all of the international organisms including UNESCO. In this frame, the new Ministry of Cultures,
Decolonization and Depatriarchalization is the head of the cultural sector, and had recently began its activities, unfortunately the technical team got noticed about the reporting on the application of the 2003 Convention on February the third, in addition, we've received the password and username to access the form on February the eleventh. It is also important for us to establish that our technicians haven't received any training which demanded a bigger effort on this work.

Question A.7

Synergies with other international frameworks

States Parties are invited to share examples of concrete activities developed within other international frameworks which contributed to the safeguarding of ICH:

Programme/Convention/Organization

1972 Convention Concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage

Activity/project

The Qhapaq Ñan Andean, Road System, has within its declaratory a component related to the intangible cultural heritage management that involves the active participation with communities and the identification of intangible expressions to be safeguarded.

Contributions to the safeguarding of intangible cultural heritage
B. Reporting against core indicators

The Section B of the form will allow you to report on your safeguarding activities and priorities according to the Overall Results Framework approved in 2018 by the General Assembly of States Parties to the 2003 Convention. Distributed in eight thematic areas, 26 core indicators have been established. To each of the indicators correspond assessment factors.

Each tab under Section B corresponds to one of the 26 indicators. The answers provided for each assessment factor determine the extent to which the indicator is satisfied. It constitutes your baseline and it is represented by a scale. You are invited to define a target for the next reporting exercise in six-year time and to explain how you intend to achieve this target, referring to the specific aspects and assessment factor(s) that the State may wish to address.
1. Extent to which competent bodies and institutions and consultative mechanisms support the continued practice and transmission of ICH

Question 1.3

Do any consultative bodies or coordination mechanisms encourage and support broad and inclusive involvement of communities, groups and individuals in ICH safeguarding and management?

No

Explain briefly how such bodies or mechanisms involve/encourage communities, groups and individuals in ICH safeguarding and management.

Question 1.4

Are institutions, organizations and/or initiatives for documenting ICH fostered and supported by the State?

Yes

Describe briefly how the State supports such institutions, organizations and/or initiatives for documenting ICH.

The state supports the driving committees with training and organization workshops at the request of the communities themselves, as well as supporting the formation and organization of the driving committees seeking the ideal representation that is needed for the preparation of the candidacy file.

Are the documentation materials produced utilized to support the continued practice and transmission of ICH?

Yes

Describe briefly how the documentation materials are utilized for these purposes.

In order to support actions to safeguard the heritage inscribed on the representative list of intangible cultural heritage, as well as others that are not inscribed, general and specific materials have been generated. In other words, the general material is aimed at a general public in order to promote and disseminate the diversity of the country's intangible cultural heritage, this contributes to raising awareness regarding the importance of the continuity of cultural expressions and the role of society on it. The specific material that has been generated in recent years has been aimed at strengthening the role of the safeguard committees made up of civil society, government agencies, research centers, and others.
within the material generated there is an audiovisual archive, cataloging, registration and inventory files, books, information cards.

Question 1.5

Which of the following institutions contribute towards ICH safeguarding and management?

7. Extent to which inventories reflect the diversity of ICH and contribute to safeguarding

Guidance note corresponding to indicator 7 of the Overall Results Framework:
English | French | Spanish

Question 7.1.a

To what extent are the inventories identified in section A.6 oriented towards safeguarding of ICH?

Partially

Explain briefly, giving examples, how these inventories are oriented towards safeguarding of ICH. If you have answered ‘Not at all’ or ‘Minimally’, explain what obstacles you face in having them do so.

According to the regulatory framework of the Plurinational State of Bolivia, Law No. 530 of the Bolivian Cultural Heritage establishes the creation of the Bolivian Cultural Heritage Registry System, which will systematize all the information on the tangible and intangible heritage existing in the national territory, however this platform is in a process of internal validation and standardization of information systematization procedures, therefore, it is not yet implemented until it can have validation, consensus and approval with the sub-national levels.

Question 7.1.b

To what extent do these inventories reflect the diversity of ICH present in your territory?

Largely

Explain briefly, giving examples, how these inventories reflect the diversity of ICH. If you have answered ‘Not at all’ or ‘Minimally’, explain what obstacles you face in so doing.

The project of the Plurinational System for the Registry of Bolivian Cultural Heritage within the prototypes of files has contemplated the diversity of cultural expressions existing in the national territory, adapting each one according to their characteristics, thus this system also seeks to collect transversally information on tangible and intangible heritage.

Question 7.2

Do specialized inventories and/or inventories of various scopes also contribute to the safeguarding of ICH and reflect its diversity?

Yes

Based on your response in section A.6 Inventories
explain how such specialized inventories and/or inventories of various scopes contribute to the safeguarding of ICH and reflect its diversity

The inventories that the Plurinational State of Bolivia currently has, both at all levels of government, allow the identification of the demographic, geographical and diversity of existing cultural expressions in each region of the country, this information represents a management baseline for the establishment of management plans and programs, through the diagnosis and eventual updating that they facilitate, the state of the expressions is known and this allows annual planning as well as the allocation of resources necessary for the implementation of the necessary actions.

Question 7.3

To what extent are existing inventories regularly updated, taking into account the current viability of the elements included therein?

Minimally

Based on your response in section (f) and (l) of A.6 Inventories

, explain the method(s) of updating the inventories, giving examples of how those take into account and reflect the current viability of the inventoried elements.

The work of updating inventories is carried out with an average periodicity of 3 years, ideally based on the inventory in the file of the general directorate of cultural heritage and others that have been generated at the subnational levels. This updating work is carried out in coordination with the responsible for the cultural and heritage management of the municipalities and governments as established in law n ° 530 the Bolivian cultural heritage. The examples that receive the most visible monitoring are those that correspond to the heritage inscribed in the representative list of the intangible cultural heritage of UNESCO, where as part of the actions established within the safeguarding plans it is necessary to do an analysis of the inventories in a comparative way, this study facilitates a diagnosis for the projection of the necessary actions as specific policies, corrective measures and/or contingency.

Question 7.4.a

To what extent is access to ICH inventories facilitated, while respecting customary practices governing access to specific elements of ICH?

Not at all

Based on your response in section (o) of A.6 Inventories

, explain briefly, giving examples, how this is accomplished.

Question 7.4.b

To what extent are ICH inventories utilized to strengthen safeguarding?
Minimally

Explain briefly, giving examples, how the ICH inventories are utilized to strengthen ICH safeguarding. If you have answered 'Not at all' or 'Minimally', please explain what obstacles you face in having them do so.

Even counting on an inventory as a memory, this requires the systematization and centralization of information in order to be able to have a wider informative panorama that allows to apply more specific measures to safeguard the intangible cultural heritage, this better organized information would allow to identify the needs, weaknesses, conditions that require attention to the various expressions of the intangible cultural heritage.

Question 8.1

To what extent do communities, groups and relevant NGOs participate inclusively in inventorying, thus informing and strengthening their safeguarding efforts?

Large

Based on your response in section (p) of A.6 Inventories

To explain briefly, giving examples, how this is accomplished.

The management of intangible cultural heritage in the Plurinational State of Bolivia has a widely participatory quality, this within the framework of the practices, uses and customs of the host communities. All field work that is going to be carried out for the inventory of cultural expressions is carried out with strict and close coordination, as well as authorization from the communities, once the information gathering work has been carried out prior to its publication, there is a process of socialization, assessment and approval by the holders of these expressions. A copy of this documentation is eventually provided to the communities that have been part of this work.

Question 8.2

To what extent does the inventorying process in your country respect the diversity of ICH and its practitioners, including the practices and expressions of all sectors of society, all genders and all regions?

Fully

Based on your response in section (q) and (r) of A.6 Inventories

To explain briefly what measures are taken to ensure respect for diversity of ICH and its practitioners as well as gender inclusiveness in the inventorying process.

The inventory processes of intangible cultural heritage are framed within what is established in the national regulations which are transversal to the management actions, such as the political constitution of the state, the law of gender equality, cultural heritage N° 530, law N° 045 on the fight against racism and all forms of discrimination and others.

Guidance note corresponding to indicator 16 of the Overall Results Framework:
English | French | Spanish

Question 16.1

Are ICH safeguarding plans and programmes inclusive of all sectors and strata of society, including:

- Indigenous peoples

  As examples we have the heritages inscribed on the representative list of the intangible cultural heritage of humanity to the Andean cosmovision of the Kallawayas, Pujllay and Ayarichi: music and dances of the Yampara culture; ichapakene piesta, the largest festival in San Ignacio de Moxos, who have developed their safeguarding plans with the participation of safeguarding committees, which are made up of representatives of the diversity of actors that form part of the intangible cultural heritage element, is a policy of State to have the greatest possible representation and participation in decision-making processes.

- Groups with different ethnic identities

  In the case of registered heritage: carnival of Oruro, the feast of the holy trinity of the Lord Jesus of Gran Poder in the city of La Paz, the ritual tours in the city of La Paz during the alasita, the broad representation that is counted in the coordination and decision-making processes in activities, tasks and responsibilities can be evidenced.

- People of different ages

  The actions established in the safeguarding plans consider the transmission from generation to generation as a fundamental space for communication between young people and adults of the communities, in this sense the Bolivian State had valuable experience with the Kallawaya communities where knowledge of traditional medicine was transmitted through workshops facilitated by the oldest members of the communities to the young people who will be trained to be the new traditional doctors of the community.

Question 16.2
Do safeguarding plans and programmes for ICH in general and/or for specific elements of ICH (whether or not inscribed on the Lists of the 2003 Convention) foster self-respect within and mutual respect between communities, groups and individuals?

Yes

Explain briefly how they foster self-respect within and mutual respect between communities, groups and individuals, providing examples.

Safeguarding plans are handled intuitively and empirically, so that the customs and traditions of the communities have millenary principles and values that have been transmitted from generation to generation that are currently preserved as intangible cultural heritage of the nations, original indigenous peoples and Afro-Bolivian communities, where self and mutual respect is fostered between communities, groups and individuals, through their own community laws.

Question 17.1

Do awareness-raising actions reflect the widest possible and inclusive participation of the concerned communities, groups and individuals?

Yes

Describe briefly, giving examples, how participation is ensured. If it is not, please explain why.

Generating democratic spaces for debate, where the role of the bearers is fundamental, the communities through their representatives and/or municipal and departmental authorities participate in the actions, plans, programs, campaigns from the formulation process to the execution.

Question 17.2

Do awareness-raising activities concerning specific elements of intangible cultural heritage secure free, prior, sustained and informed consent of the concerned communities, groups and individuals?

Yes

Describe briefly, giving examples, how their consent is secured.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia is one of the countries in the region whose social organizations have a solid organic structure that demands a consultative process from the communal assemblies to the higher structure levels (central, regional, provincial).

Question 17.3

Are there mechanisms in place that duly protect the rights of communities, groups and individuals, and their moral and material interests during awareness raising activities about their ICH?

Yes

Explain briefly, giving examples, how these mechanisms protect the rights of communities, groups and individuals and their moral and material interests during awareness raising activities.
The public policies established by the Plurinational State of Bolivia are specific and transversal to the protection of the cultural rights of communities, groups and individuals. Law No. 530 and Law No. 1220 of Bolivian Cultural Heritage establish procedures and regulated mechanisms regarding intangible cultural heritage, as well as Law No. 045 Fight against racism and all forms of discrimination, Law No. 1257 Law that ratifies Convention 169, which establishes mechanisms that guarantee the protection of the rights of communities, groups and individuals.

Question 17.4

Are there mechanisms in place that facilitate the active engagement of youth in awareness-raising activities?

Yes

Describe briefly, giving examples, what mechanisms exist to facilitate their active engagement. If ‘no’, please explain why not.

It seeks to intervene through educational units in rural areas to young students in promotion and dissemination campaigns around their local heritage, they are also involved in the development of local tourism offer for which they must investigate and propose socialization and awareness activities.

Question 19.1

Do policies and programmes publicly acknowledge the practitioners and bearers of ICH on an inclusive basis?

Yes

Describe briefly, giving examples, how policies and programmes do this.

If there is public recognition through the promotion and dissemination of programmatic information on activities, history of cultural expression, actors part of cultural expressions, however, it is important to highlight that this information is not carried out in a sustainable and in-depth manner, the information regarding Intangible cultural heritage is temporary and responds to the media interests of the mass media, denoting weak coordination with cultural authorities, safeguarding committees or others.

Describe in particular measures to ensure that they do so inclusively.

Question 19.2

Are public events organized that concern ICH, its importance and safeguarding, as well as the Convention?

Yes

Are these events organized for:

- Researchers

  There are initiatives given from different spaces, as one of the most outstanding examples we have the Annual Ethnology Meeting promoted by the Museum of Ethnography and Folklore that each year encourages a meeting of academic, empirical researchers and the general public who have the interest to present a work under the theme that has been defined for that management.

Question 19.3

Question 21.1

Do communities, groups and individuals participate on an inclusive basis, and to the widest possible extent, in the safeguarding of ICH in general or specific elements, (whether or not inscribed on the Lists of the 2003 Convention)? Some Describe briefly, giving examples, how community, group and individual participation is secured.

This is achieved through the formation of committees that promote and safeguard potential and registered intangible assets. This represents an accessible and democratic participatory integration mechanism.

Describe in particular measures to ensure that this is inclusive.

The State promotes the formation of the promoting and safeguarding committees with a broad representation of various cultural actors and managers, these can be made up of civil society, government agencies, academic instances, heritage bearers and others with the same participation condition.

Question 21.2

Do NGOs and other civil society actors participate in the safeguarding of ICH in general and of specific elements of ICH (whether or not inscribed)? High Explain briefly, giving examples, how NGO and civil society participation in ICH safeguarding is ensured.

The processes of declarations of intangible cultural heritage demand, according to current regulations, the formation of committees that promote and safeguard the identified elements, these must be composed of representatives of the different actors that are part of the cultural expressions, these committees can Participate NGOs and civil society in a democratic way.

Question 21.3
Do private sector entities participate in the safeguarding of ICH, and of specific elements of ICH (whether or not inscribed), while respecting the Ethical Principles of Safeguarding of ICH?

Limited

Describe private sector participation in ICH safeguarding briefly, giving examples, and explain how the Ethical Principles are respected.

We can mention the Huari Brewery, it is a private company whose factory is located in the town of Huari whose name has been adopted for its product, the quality of this company in relation to the ethical principles linked to the safeguarding of cultural heritage immaterial lies in its close relationship with the communities of Huari, as well as the implementation of support programs for its inhabitants related to the textiles they produce, these are acquired by the company and are in turn supported with training workshops so that the knowledge of women weavers can be passed on to new generations.

C. Status of elements inscribed on the Representative List

Please complete all points below for each element of intangible cultural heritage present in the State’s territory that has been inscribed on the Representative List. Refer to the nomination file as the basis for reporting on the current status of the element and report only on relevant changes since the date of inscription on the List or since the last report. Nomination files and earlier reports are available at https://ich.unesco.org or on request at the Secretariat.

The State Party shall pay special attention to the role of gender and shall endeavour to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of each report, and is asked in point C.7 below to describe how it has done so.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 (‘the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention’).

The Kallawayas Andean Cosmovision constitutes the identity of the Kallawayas Peasant Native Indigenous Nation, characterized by being millennial herbal doctors, with knowledge about plants, animals, elements of mineral origin that are extremely useful to cure different types of diseases that afflict both bodily and spiritually. It also consists of knowledge about the management of different ecological floors existing in the Kallawayas ancestral territory and the use of plants that they consider as a kind of natural pharmacy. The viability of this element requires a more committed support from the departmental and central governments, since safeguard actions are currently being developed mainly with the support of the municipal governments of Charazani and Curva, which are managed by the community members themselves. and community Kallawayas as mayors, mayors, councilors, councilors, sub mayors, sub mayors and administrative personnel with extensive knowledge of the element, the council of original authorities and the "wata purichiq" (wise and wise related to time and space).
Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

To date, the practice of the element is strongly promoted by the communities of the municipalities of Charazani and Curva at the head of the Safeguarding Committee that works in the objective of carrying out the Safeguarding Plan in a way that is closely linked to the municipal governments. The municipal governments and the Committee know that they can develop actions within the framework of the municipal annual operating programs, making the objectives of the Plan feasible.

Kallawaya herbal medicine continues to suffer sustainability problems because it does not have support for the transmission of knowledge. Young people are forced to change their minds or simply professionalize to continue living. There is a high rate of definitive migration and abandonment of the Bautista Saavedra province. Despite this, the registration allowed to reinforce the identity and there are many young people interested in following the medical and herbal practice, but also in keeping it in a modern and global context.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List

Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.

To date, the practice of the element is strongly promoted by the communities of the municipalities of Charazani and Curva at the head of the Safeguarding Committee that works in the objective of carrying out the Safeguarding Plan in a way that is closely linked to the municipal governments. The municipal governments and the Committee know that they can develop actions within the framework of the municipal annual operating programs, making the objectives of the Plan feasible.

The population universe of people belonging to the communities that carry the element are from the municipalities of Charazani and Curva, reaching a total of 16,308, of which the population of the municipality of Charazani reaches a total of 13,023 and that of Curva 3,285. Regarding the number of communities, Charazani has 68 and Curva 9 communities. Young people under 40 years of age are in the process of training in the Kallawaya worldview.
The lack of involvement of the Departmental Government constitutes a risk factor for the development of the Element Safeguarding Plan since the few resources of the municipalities are insufficient.

Another risk factor is the migration of the youth population due to the lack of job opportunities to cities such as El Alto and La Paz, and the consequent abandonment of herbal medicine due to the change in activity typical of the cities.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

The Safeguarding Plan updated in 2016 and delivered to the Ministry of Culture and Tourism in 2017 became the application tool through the development of the annual operational programs of the municipal governments of Curva and Charazani. Likewise, the support provided to the Committee for the Safeguarding of the Andean Worldview of the Kallawayas from the central government and the municipal governments of Charazani and Curva in the preparation of the Safeguarding Plan for the element and its updating was of fundamental importance in promoting and strengthening it.

The promulgation and application of Law No. 530 on Bolivian Cultural Heritage was of importance, since it became an instrument that guided all cultural public policies and the actions of those involved in the safeguarding of the element. The application of the Political Constitution of the State and international instruments such as ILO Convention 160 and the UNESCO Convention by governments committed to indigenous peoples was constituted in actions that strengthened the measures aimed at safeguarding the element.

Question C.5

C.5. Community participation

Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

The element constitutes the fundamental basis of the cultural identity of the Kallaway communities, unifying them under the identity of the Kallaway indigenous nation and indigenous peoples. Due to the significance of the element for the Kallawayas and their institutions, in order to optimize their safeguarding actions, they converged on the Safeguarding Committee. This committee established close relations with the municipal governments of Charazani and Curva, as well as with the departmental government of La Paz and the Intangible Cultural Heritage Unit of the Vice Ministry of Interculturality of the Ministry of Cultures,
Decolonization and Depatriarchalization. The Kallawaya communities are located in different ecological floors, which is why they are part of different regional organizations such as the Trade Union Federation of Peasant Workers of the Bautista Saavedra Province, the Federation of Indigenous Indigenous Peasant Women "Bartolina Sisa", the Federation of Intercultural Communities of the Saavedra Baptist Province and the Suyu Kallawaya. This situation makes it difficult to participate in the safeguarding of the element, because in practice it is the communities of the municipalities of Charazani and Curva that participate the most in the safeguarding of the element. The support of the non-governmental organizations WCS-Bolivia, Suyana and Incamino to reinforce the participation of the communities was of great importance.

Question C.6

C.6. Institutional context

Report on the institutional context for the element inscribed on the Representative List, including:

a. the competent body(ies) involved in its management and/or safeguarding;

b. the organization(s) of the community or group concerned with the element and its safeguarding.

The competent bodies involved in the management and safeguarding of the element are the following:

Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization through the Cultural Heritage Unit of the Vice Ministry of Interculturality.

Autonomous Departmental Government of La Paz.

Departmental Assembly of La Paz.

Municipal Autonomous Government of Charazani.

Municipal Council of Charazani.

Municipal Autonomous Government of Curva.

Municipal Council of Curva.

Of the municipal districts related to the element and its safeguards belonging to the municipality of Charazani, the following are mentioned:

Charazani Community
Kaata Community
Chari Community
Chajaya Community
Amarete Community
Chullina Community
Carijana Community
Alpaquero Community
Paujiyyuyo Community

In the municipality of Curva the following municipal districts are mentioned:

Cañuma Community
Kaalaya Community
Sanachi Community
Upinwaya Community
The Committee for the Safeguarding of the Andean Cosmovision of the Kallawayas.
Wise and wise Kallawayas on climate change.
Young people from the communities who received transmission of safeguarding knowledge by the wise Kallawayas.
Certified weavers in Kallaway art.

Question C.7

C.7. Participation of communities in preparing this report

Describe the measures taken to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of this report.

Notes and attached forms were sent to the municipal government of Charazani and to the Committee for the Safeguarding of the Andean Cosmovision of the Kallawayas.
Two meetings were held, on different occasions, with members of the Safeguarding Committee and its President, Alipio Cuila Barrenoso, who were informed about the report that will be sent to UNESCO on the safeguarding actions.
Mr. Cuila contributed by informing that among the safeguard measures during the COVID 19 pandemic they developed the on-site preparation of medicines to prevent and heal people affected by this disease in the communities. He even reported that they developed and applied a Contingency Plan against the disease with the support of the Municipal Government of Charazani.
Likewise, he sent the Cultural Heritage Unit a written report in response to the note sent to the Municipal Government of Charazani for the periodic report to UNESCO, attaching printed information.
There were also some contacts with some residents in the city of La Paz, such as Mr. Walter Alvarez, a community member of the region. On the other hand, the Kallawaya community member Mario Vargas participated, who supported the procedures and elaboration of requirements for the declaration of the element as a Masterpiece of the Kallaway Culture.
C. Status of elements inscribed on the Representative List

Please complete all points below for each element of intangible cultural heritage present in the State’s territory that has been inscribed on the Representative List. Refer to the nomination file as the basis for reporting on the current status of the element and report only on relevant changes since the date of inscription on the List or since the last report. Nomination files and earlier reports are available at https://ich.unesco.org or on request at the Secretariat.

The State Party shall pay special attention to the role of gender and shall endeavour to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of each report, and is asked in point C.7 below to describe how it has done so.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 (‘the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention’).

The Oruro Carnival is a cultural process that is characterized by interculturality that exceeds 200 years, it is carried out in a cultural space that obeys processes of accumulation, selection, generational transmission of cultural manifestations. That through creativity, continuity, perfectibility and rituality, it comes to constitute processes of generation of new cultural manifestations in other geographical spaces, taking the form of material goods. The final product of this cultural process is manifested during the Carnival date where there is a concentration of the Cultural and Intangible Heritage of exceptional value, particularized by: rituality, creativity, perfectibility and continuity as a multiplying effect that transcends the show in itself.

There are about 52 groups and fraternities that perform in 18 dance specialties that obey different cultural processes, for more than 20 continuous hours they parade dancing along a prescribed route, before 400,000 and more spectators, coming from all over the country and abroad. This activity is carried out following a tradition that has been consolidated in the last 40 years, as a show of great eye-catching and attractiveness.
The dancers are the direct bearers of tradition, involving embroiderers, careteros, boatmen, artisans and musicians in the cultural event, the organizational functions are carried out today by 80% of the Oruro Folklore Ensemble Association, which is the entity that articulates all the Associations and Government entities to develop the annual activity. The relevant changes that have occurred in the Oruro Carnival are the uncontrolled commercial exploitation during the carnival, and particularly the economic dependence on its development. And despite a very marked identity on the part of the inhabitants of the community in which a regional and national pride is generated for the realization of the cultural event, the economic phenomenon is inclined as a priority. Given the context of the health crisis caused by covid 19, it is important to report some determinations that were adopted in this context. The association of folkloric groups of Oruro (ACFO), the Ethnography and Folklore Committee of Oruro and the autonomous departmental government of Oruro defined the non-implementation of the 2021 version, as a health security measure, however despite the economic damage that this has represented, efforts have been made to disseminate the element inscribed on the ICP Representative List through mass dissemination channels and social networks.

Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

The Oruro Carnival has an annual periodicity, where approximately 400,000 people visit between nationals and foreigners, and the economic movement in Oruro is registered with important increases in subsequent years. 52 fraternities participate in the entrance of the Oruro Carnival in 18 dances, Diabalada, Morenada, Caporales, Incas, Llamera, Tinkus, Cullaguada, the dancers wear their best costumes to highlight the Bolivian culture. The transmission from generation to generation is the fundamental pillar for the safeguarding of the Oruro Carnival, for the participation of the public and private institutions in charge of its organization is very important. There is an urgent need to activate the safeguard plan with policies for the protection of natural spaces (Toad, viper, ants, lizard and condor), these are stone deities that have the risk of being lost due to population growth in those areas since they are constituted in myths that gave rise to the Oruro Carnival. Regarding the different material elements associated with the Oruro Carnival, in particular those that involve traditional artisan elaboration processes, such as the discriminated use of protected fauna affects the environment.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List
Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.

The registration of the Oruro Carnival in the representative list has strengthened the level of identification with our culture, has increased the degree of responsibility on the part of the general population for its strengthening and growth over the years, all this through citizen initiatives and formal requests to government entities for the implementation of provisions and laws that support the safeguarding of the Oruro Carnival.

The creativity of the main actors of the Oruro Carnival has led to the strengthening of micro-enterprises such as the carteros, embroiderers, boatmen, artisans and others, to have constantly renewed the image of the costumes, always preserving the established forms but generating works of art in each one of them, year after year without reaching the distortion but allowing their normal evolutionary step, characteristic of folklore.

In order to preserve nature, legal norms were established in recent years, which have promoted changes in the materials for making traditional costumes, thus avoiding taking different local and national natural species to the limits of their extinction. The nature and root of the cultural event an important achievement related to the ecosystem.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

The Oruro Folkloric Ensemble Association, which is in charge of organizing the ensembles that preserve the cultural event, has annually generated internal regulations, intended to regulate Carnival activities, for their revision, correction or adaptation over time and the changes that are generated on the holiday.

Likewise, the Oruro Folklore Ensemble Association has undertaken a campaign to disseminate the cultural fact in the different Fairs and Exhibitions nationwide, currently booths have been presented at the International Fair of Cochabamba-Bolivia (FEICOBOL) and the Economic Technical Exhibition Commercial (EXPOTECO - Oruro), printed material was distributed and informative capsules were disseminated.

Posters of the Carnival are published annually with the aim of publicizing the date of the Carnival by the ACFO Association of Folklore Ensembles of Oruro, Departmental and Municipal Autonomous Governments, advertising is also broadcast in the radio and television media and social networks.

Today a website is maintained where information is disseminated not only in news, spots, digital documents, but there are also innovations such as the virtual museum on the Oruro Carnival.

The Technical University of Oruro published three texts on the Oruro Carnival, which cover economic, historical, religious and tourist issues.
Question C.5

C.5. Community participation

Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

The cultural process of the Oruro Carnival involves the participation of different sectors of the Society, of various guilds, associations, fraternities and artistic and cultural groups, about 500,000 people directly involved in the Oruro cultural area of influence. Throughout the festival, more than fifty groups perform numerous dances distributed in 18 specialties that obey different cultural processes, for more than 20 continuous hours they parade along the route of more than 3 kilometers, before 400,000 national spectators and foreigners.

Also participating in the Oruro Carnival are about 40,000 dancers of both sexes, of all ages (from 5 years old), and of all occupations and social positions, and about 10,000 musicians distributed in approximately 150 musical bands.

Likewise, embroiderers, caretakers, boatmen, hotel companies, citizen security personnel, national police and the army participate.

Academic institutions participate in the annual organization of forums, colloquia, round tables on Oruro Carnival themes, evaluating the choreography, costumes and presentation of each folkloric group.

Question C.6

C.6. Institutional context

Report on the institutional context for the element inscribed on the Representative List, including:

a. the competent body(ies) involved in its management and/or safeguarding;

b. the organization(s) of the community or group concerned with the element and its safeguarding.

C.7. Participation of communities in preparing this report

Describe the measures taken to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of this report.

This report was prepared with the limited participation of the Oruro Carnival actors, the Oruro Folklore Ensemble Association (ACFO) whose current President is Jacinto Quispaya, Oruro Ethnography and Folklore Committee, whose current president is Oscar Elia and also as a member Estanislao Aquino; Oruro Municipal Autonomous Government, Oruro Departmental Autonomous Government, Oruro Technical University (UTO), Association of Oruro Professional Band Musicians.

The Plurinational State of Bolivia has gone through a process of political and social crisis that has affected the institutional framework of the cultural sector, undermining adequate coordination with the representatives, both of the communities involved, representatives and authorities of the department, as well as the different representatives of the the folkloric groups and fraternities that are a living part of the folkloric cultural fact.

For this report, all the interviews carried out with different representatives of the institutions involved as well as the members of the folkloric groups, and direct bearers of the element, were systematized .

The interest shown by all the actors makes the writing of this report very special, which acquires a participatory and inclusive nature of society as a whole.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 (‘the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention’).

The Ichapekene Piesta, involves all the inhabitants of San Ignacio de Moxos, allows the elderly to transmit their knowledge and skills to the younger generations, while giving its multi-ethnic community a sense of its syncretic identity and respect for the environment. This past year, despite the COVID-19 pandemic, the San Ignacio procession was maintained with a small group of people from the Folkloric groups and other faithful devotees.

The Indigenous Council, the Folkloric Ensembles together with the San Ignacio de Moxos School of Music, and the participation of the students of the schools are the institutions that give the multi-ethnic and diverse character of the San Ignacio de Moxos festival, the Municipal Autonomous Government of San Ignacio de Moxos that sponsors the party that shows the identity of the Ignatian and since the Choir of the School of Music interprets the official Mass is when the time of the Ichapekene Piesta begins with Dance and Music groups where the flute Tacuara is an essential instrument that accompanies direct groups that carry tradition.
The relevant changes of the Ichapekene Piesta are the COVID 19 effect that resulted in the non-realization of the party but at the same time it was found that the closest bearers and believers to the element made the main ceremony that kept alive the tradition that the people of San Ignacio de Moxos has been rooted within his cultural customs.

Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

The Ichapekene Piesta has an annual period, where approximately 1000 people participate as direct carriers of the element, and more than 1500 people arrive as spectators of the party. Every year, the Moxeño-Ignacianos relive their own version of the myth of Ignacio de Loyola’s victory over the infidels, various religious, festive and fun acts, beginning with the fireworks in the month of May, when the parishioners sing greetings and praise. During this syncretic celebration, which takes place between July 7 and August 5, celebrations of masses, wakes, alms and parties are held daily and every night. The festival reaches its peak on July 30 and 31, when the stars and angels watch over the festivities. The spirits that own the rest and the waters come to teach everyone present to “laugh and live happily.” All present embody masked dance characters and are divided into approximately 48 folkloric ensembles. Meanwhile, other inhabitants lubricate a tree trunk Representing the vitality of the forest, the handle of the sacred flag and spiritual purification, the Ichapekene Piesta is an act of faith and a constant rebirth.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List

Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.

The registration of Ichapekene Piesta on the Representative List has contributed to raising awareness about the significance of similar rituals and festive events in other parts of the world while encouraging intercultural dialogue and promoting respect for cultural and biological diversity.

Both the Indigenous Council and the State have been ensuring the viability of Ichapekene Piesta in recent decades, and safeguard measures have been planned from conducting inventories to workshops on occupations and tasks associated with the festival, through a series of meetings. and field work, the Indigenous Council of San Ignacio de Moxos participated in the preparation of the nomination with about ten researchers, and received the free, prior and informed consent of the Community of San Ignacio de Moxos, represented by its indigenous council. And at the initiative of the Moxeños, the element was registered in the national inventory of tangible and intangible heritage and was certified by the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization in 2010.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

Before the presence of the Ministry of Cultures, the Mojeño-Ignatians prepared their own Safeguarding Plan that they put into practice, that is, they had application and results. Thus, they took the initiative to publish a series of books that are commented on the history of Moxos. At the same time, they propose articulation between intangible cultural heritage and other types of heritage. The inventory with the corresponding and officially legalized files presenting 31 intangible heritage files; 175 files of movable cultural heritage and 24 files of the great Indigenous Council. Thus, the Mojeño Safeguarding Plan proposes the articulation with the material heritage by incorporating the Intangible heritage in the cataloging sheets of historical-artistic assets that are used to fight against the illicit traffic of cultural assets.

Within the Safeguarding Plan, the production of bibliography was proposed. This is the case of Ichapekene Piesta. Wisdom reading of the "Big Party" of the Ignatian Mojito people 2017, a publication that is built by making a back and forth between the biblical prophetic writing of the Old Testament and the observations during the festival, the author Fabio Garbari S.J. From the Intangible Heritage unit of the Ministry of Cultures, the compilation entitled: Polifonía de Voces de la Ichapekene Piesta de San Ignacio de Moxos (2019), official documents, the compilation is made in the International Year of Indigenous Languages to raise awareness to the public. In the same way, all the bearers of the element disseminate the festival.

Question C.5

C.5. Community participation

Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

The Ichapekene Piesta belongs to the people of San Ignacio de Moxos, who organize themselves in communities, assuming each and every one of the roles of reproduction and festive transmission through institutions and groups with specific responsibilities. The more than 50 groups that participate are formed with the participation of family members from the communities of San Ignacio de Moxos, who are heir to the collective values and knowledge that are displayed in the ceremonies and parades with music and choreography. The folk groups are the soul of the festival and are important carriers of the element in the same way the Indigenous Council are the authorities inherited from the Jesuit missions that is formed by the Corregidor and his caciques who represent the spiritual authority that moves the entire cultural issue around the element. The choir of the School of Music of San Ignacio de Moxos interprets the music of the old partitions in Latin and Moxenian. Some women dedicate themselves to continuously and lovingly performing various services. Abbesses (Abbesses) decorate the temple, dress the saint and pray during services and processions. Meanwhile, other women offer services such as cooking, entertaining or simply offering alms. The musicians produce and tune instruments of pre-Hispanic, Hispanic, baroque and modern Amazonian origin. Finally, all participants learn to live together in an intercultural and multiethnic context through acts of reciprocity and redistribution.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 (‘the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention’).

The element is constituted in a fundamental pillar of the ethnic identity of the yampara indigenous peasant people, it embodies their own culture, practices and experiences transmitted by their ancients from generation after generation. In the same sense, the element is constituted in the marker of its agricultural cycle: pujllay means game, very characteristic of the season of rain and time of reproduction of the crops; and ayarichi, very owned from the dry season characterized by an abundant variety of agricultural products such as potatoes, corn and other products with which they practice the traditional trueque still in force, even though its invention have expected its centuries. The migration of young people to other regions in the country and abroad has been constituted a potential risk factor, since they could end by leaving the practice of its element.

Pandemics such as covid 19 is taken into account as a potential risk, which affected the traditional practice of the element.
Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

The responsible for the safeguarding of the element are not the entire yampara collectivity, its municipal governments, the departmental government of chuquisac and the departmental directorate of chuquisaca.

The communities of the yampara culture, organized in indigenous peasant and indigenous unions; the authorities of the municipal governments of tarabuco, icla, presto, supachuy, yamparaez and zudañez; jointly the departmental autonomous government of chuquisaca organize festivals on an annual manner between march 12, 13 and 14 with the purpose of strengthening and keeping the element alive and promoting more safeguarding. Together with this activity, crafts, fabrics and agricultural products fairs are held, same that also take place at other times.

On the other hand, the teaching that began to be given to children and youth in different educational units is fundamental by disposition of the departmental directorate of chuquisaca in response to the demands of the committee of the safeguard committee, promoting in this way to keep alive the practice of the element.

The total population involved in safeguard is approximately 30.00 people belonging to the yampara culture. The directly carriers are close to 4,000 people, same who are from the communities of jatun churicana, collacamani, mishka mayu, pisili, lupiara pampa and san jose del paredon; all of them speak quechua, in addition to spanish as a second language.

Among the threats mentioned the prolongation of the covid 19 effect that already hurt for vast recent years, the migration that mainly affects the yampara youth population since in many cases it implies non-return. It has been seen, even though there are no studies in this regard, that their main destination is the city of santa cruz, where, because of the preponderance of events of ethnic discrimination, they suffer a process of transculturation, causing long loss and identity. To this is added the insufficiency of public policies favorable to the safeguarding of the element.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List

Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.

Before its inscription on the representative list, the element was being practiced with emphasis in the communities of the rural area, being unknown in other contexts and put in danger of disappearance before which neither the local and national authorities could take effective actions in favor. When it was established as an intangible cultural heritage of humanity, it was made visible both at the local, departmental, national and international levels, becoming a very precious cultural value although quite sensitive due to its ancestry since it could suffer distortions due to its spread to others. Places in the country such as la paz, oruro and others, as well as abroad such as punoc-peru where the pujllay dance is danced with very different characteristics.

With its inscription in the representative list of unesco, the interculturality of the towns of the rural area and of the cities of the department of chuquisaca was enriched. Likewise, it meant the enrichment of the practice of interculturality of the peoples of the world due to their condition as heritage of humanity. It has also become a contribution to humanity by being a model of life respecting mother earth and the harmonious relationship with biodiversity, thus achieving the concept of living well.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

With the inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage, the safeguarding of the Pujllay and Ayarichi of the Yampara culture has been guaranteed. Awareness-raising measures have been taken to unify the communities with the municipalities, the departmental government of Chuquisaca, the Caritas NGO of the Catholic Church, the academics of the Association of Anthropologists ASUR. With this measure, research actions have been generated that strengthen the identity by the scholars of the nation itself or Suyu Yampara (Yampara Nation in Spanish), support for handicraft weavers from the municipal governments and the governorate. The entire local population of the department, municipal governments and international institutions have also been sensitized. On the other hand, it has been possible to deepen efforts to hold festivals and handicraft fairs, counting the involvement of local governments, the departmental government of Chuquisaca, even the Departmental Directorate of Education of Chuquisaca of the Plurinational State of Bolivia

Question C.5

C.5. Community participation
Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

The safeguarding of the element is a joint commitment of the communities, groups and individuals, the municipal governments and the departmental government of Chuquisaca, the organization of professional anthropologists (ASUR) and the Catholic Church, which have been organizing a series of activities such as festivals and handicraft fairs especially for community women weavers, research and implementation of museums that are currently in process, the teaching given in the educational units of Pujllay and Ayarichi, their instruments, music, and the choreography and meaning of the clothing.

The continuation of joint actions of the communities, the Safeguarding Committee with the support of the local and departmental autonomous governments are proof that there is a commitment to safeguarding the element despite adverse factors such as COVID 19 that has occurred in recent years. Sending official notes requesting participation in the preparation of the report by filling in the form, conversations by phone and cell phone.

Question C.6

C.6. Institutional context

Report on the institutional context for the element inscribed on the Representative List, including:

a. the competent body(ies) involved in its management and/or safeguarding;

b. the organization(s) of the community or group concerned with the element and its safeguarding.

Competent body or bodies involved in its management or safeguarding

In this regard, the following competent bodies are mentioned:

- Cultural Heritage Unit of the Vice Ministry of Interculturality of the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization.
- Departmental Autonomous Government of Chuquisaca.
- Chuquisaca Departmental Assembly.

Question C.7

C.7. Participation of communities in preparing this report

Describe the measures taken to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of this report.

The President of the Safeguard Committee called the Pujllay and Ayarichi Safeguard Committee (COSAPA), Mr. José Pachacopa, participated by telephone. Thus, they spoke via telephone with authorities and officials responsible for the Autonomous Municipal Governments, mainly from Tarabuco, informing them and explaining about the periodic report to be sent to UNESCO, for which they responded in a timely manner by sending information via WhatsApp. In the same way, contact was made with officials and authorities of the Departmental Autonomous Government of Chuquisaca, obtaining valuable information to prepare the periodic report.

On the other hand, official notes were sent to the highest authorities of both the Autonomous Municipal Government of Tarabuco and the Departmental Autonomous Government of Chuquisaca, requesting that they provide the information required for the preparation of the periodic report to UNESCO. They also spoke by cell phone with some officials of the Chuquisaca governorate in charge of safeguarding the element, gathering necessary information.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 ('the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention').

The realization of the wingsite in La Paz implies a social pact between the direct actors that was recreated and confirmed annually, until the 2021 management in which it was suspended as a precautionary measure in the face of the pandemic situation COVID-19 through which it crosses the world. However, in the city of El Alto developed despite the conditions seeking to implement biosecurity measures, the dynamics of this cultural expression prompted society to place its faith focused on the demands of health and hope for the patients of the virus, reaffirming in this way the opportunity to recreate hopes for well-being, prosperity, a desire for union between family, friends and city dwellers, is also an occasion to complement and rejoice fren of coexistense, in addition to communicating feelings of friendship and closeness by offering miniatures of "good luck" that hold hopes for reproduction and growth of life in a time of life conducive to them (denomination in Aymara Jallu Pacha). Intellectuals contribute to the development of the miniature press where they satirize politicians and cast a Zahorí look at the social political event. Indigenous ritualists after the penalization of their practices, act publicly making alcohol libations, reading in coca leaves, tin, sahumerio, Spanish deck, or simply praying for the ekeko.

The Alasita World Heritage Fair, held in the city of La Paz, has the function of uniting the artisans around the fair and the representation of the Ekeko the god of abundance, not only for visitors. While the fair lasts the fair artisans are articulated in community to carry out their customs of the sector such as anniversaries, choosing the directories of each sector, taking into account 66 sectors of artisans united for a single purpose to create and recreate the traditional Alasita Fair.

Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

The inscription of the element visualizes how the wings illustrate the possibility of ritual exchange between strangers and that is not carried out individually but in the course of a very popular social phenomenon: syncretism not only of magical and religious beliefs of various horizons, but also of aspirations of settlers and social classes of very diverse origins: rural or citadinos regional or ethnic. The fair is highly awaited, not only by the fair artisans but also by visitors who are of different social strata, both women and men, the elderly and children, without discrimination of any kind. During the Ritual Tours in the city of La Paz, replicas of homes and buildings are exhibited, for those who aspire to have a house; small banknotes in Bolivian currency, euros, dollars for those who want to accumulate fortune; food products afin that there is no lack of food and cocks or chicken to get girlfriend or boyfriend.

The threats identified are the smuggling of foreign or foreign handicrafts with Chinese symbology, and in addition that in this management accordingly to the adverse situations of the COVID 19 Pandemic the fairs affiliated to FENAENA asked to postpone for the development of the same for 2 months the same since the impossibility of its realization would imply a loss of their investment.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List

Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.
The wings make interculturality, confessional freedom and economic diversity visible. Enrollment helps these principles be preserved and reproduced globally. It allows the coexistences of various confessions in the context of good coexistence where individuals can chart their itineraries in the various sacred spaces, without having a unique ritual practice as manifested in religious fundamentalism. Individuals can go to the Catholic blessing, such as indigenous Libations and Sahumerians, or simply not. In the miniature universe of the wings the ceremonial route is free, in addition it allows the obtaining of miniatures and aspirations by various means that illustrate an economic plurality: direct purchases, barter and gifts.

The wingsite is a cultural expression that is recognized through practice, without without dogmatic religious discourse; in this sense, it is constituted in a space of diverse interaction. Precisely because of this characteristic, it expands, recently, around the world. The fairs of the Alasita affiliated to FENAENA have been possessed for its importance as carriers of the Intangible Cultural Heritage, hence the fair is known in other latitudes and is being recognized as the PCI with the greatest originality in the city of Peace, the carnival artisans as a productive sector are now taken into account by the different levels of the state for the realization of it in different cities of the interior.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

The presence of wings in a public space seeks to link in addition to national identity, as with the ethnic entity (quechua-aymara). This positioning is part of the process of visibility of the original peoples that has been developing for several decades, which refers not only to an issue exhibited, but also to claims strategies and oral discourses.

Since 2012, the Ministry of Cultures and Tourism, now the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchization, has created inventories of methods of transmission and recreation of Alasita. For its part, the Museum of Ethnography and Folklore has collected miniatures and other objects of cultural value for collections since 1962. The interest in them is to understand the changes and evolutions of the Alasita event through the analysis of the historical memory contained in the objects.

Due to UNESCO's acknowledging the Ritual Tours in the city of La Paz during the Wingsite, the bearers of intangible heritage developed a project called the Ekeko Museum together a headquarters for the thousands of artisans who are part of FENAENA. So that in this way they have a place to shelter and exhibit the family treasures of the wings that are held in custody from their ancestors, Antiquities that will be a primordial part of this Museum.

Question C.5
C.5. Community participation

Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

In La Paz, from the beginning of the nineteenth century to the present day, the population has cared about its characteristics and future because, according to official surveys, it considers it a festive expression that marks its identity. Alasita's ritual itineraries have changed over time because during the last thirty years new public spaces have been opened that have allowed us to publicly express syncretism and abolish the criminalization that, since the sixteenth century, weighed on Andean religiosity. Today, indigenous ritualists can freely perform their ceremonies on or near church porches, which was previously unheard of.

The inhabitants of the city of La Paz take over the Alasita Fair, because they are all part of it by concentrating on the fairground where the main w'aka (sacred place) and the Ekeko are located, on January 24th at 12 no.m., where miniatures, rings and ispallas are purchased, with the hope and dream that in the coming year will come true through the rituality of the watiri masters, amautas, spiritual guides of the of the Andean worldview, rituality of religious syncretism of the symbiosis of the custom of ancestors and the Catholic religion. Among the organizations involved for safeguarding are: the Universidad Mayor de San Andrés, the Departmental Council of Cultures and others.

Question C.7

C.7. Participation of communities in preparing this report
Describe the measures taken to ensure the widest possible participation of the communities, groups and, where applicable, individuals concerned as well as relevant non-governmental organizations during the process of preparation of this report.

Despite this situation, there was timely participation of the National Federation of Christmas and Alasita Artisans and Exhibitors (FENAENA) and the Municipal Autonomous Government of La Paz, Ministry of cultures, Decolonization and depatriarcalization Departmental Autonomous Government of La Paz, National Federation of the Artisans of alasita of the city of El Alto Universidad Mayor de San Andrés UMSA, National Museum of Ethnography and Folklore (MUSEF) National Federation of Christmas craftsmen and exhibitors and Alasita (FENAENA) Andean Cultural Development Center (CEDECA) who provided valuable information for the filling out of this form.

For this report, all the interviews carried out with different representatives of the institutions involved as well as the members of the folkloric groups, and direct bearers of the element, were systematized.

The interest shown by all the actors makes the writing of this report very special, which acquires a participatory and inclusive nature of society as a whole.

Question C.1

C.1. Social and cultural functions

Explain the social and cultural functions and meanings of the element today, within and for its community, the characteristics of the bearers and practitioners, and any specific roles or categories of persons with special responsibilities towards the element, among others. Attention should be given to any relevant changes related to inscription criterion R.1 (‘the element constitutes intangible cultural heritage as defined in Article 2 of the Convention’).

The Gran Poder festival takes place on the Holy Trinity Day in La Paz, seat of government of the Plurinational State of Bolivia. The liturgies take place in Ch’ijini. A procession of more than 40,000 devotees begins the Parade, which runs through the western part of the city. From the Plaza Garita in Lima the procession advances with 7,000 musicians through the streets full of a jubilant crowd that welcomes them with flowers and confetti, reaching an audience of approximately 116,000 people on the route. The dancers arrive in the Ch’ijini district, surrounding the Shrine, where the patron is led to lead the eight-kilometer-long procession.

The devotion is transmitted within the families of the Great Power through the promise to dance for three years and to participate in devotional ceremonies, processions and evenings, in parallel, during demonstrations of joy and vitality in the preparatory rehearsals and the parade. It is important to note that since the 1990s, children have had an organizational structure that allows them to perform the same devotional gestures as adults. So they have a little independent parade.

The devotion of the PRESTE is expressed in the active mobilization of interpersonal relationships, the intensification of cooperation networks and the exchange of gifts and affections, but above all in the extraordinary economic investment in ceremonies and celebrations.

In the same way, a large community of artisans works for the Gran Poder festival, not only supplying costumes and jewelry, but also creating fashion, aesthetics and symbolism to stimulate the economy generated by the celebration in which they participate.

The relevant Changes of the Great Power festival are the COVID 19 effect that determined that during the pandemic, meetings between fraternal called "Social Receptions" were not allowed, but keeping this activity so important for believers alive in the midst of the pandemic was I realize change Manto embroidery Tata of the Great Power, also it made a small procession with the Tata of the Great Power with some representatives of the fraternities, and by the Municipal Government of La Paz ralizo one Virtual Program on Gran Poder performing various activities is Zoom, Facebook, Youtube, from the Canal: La Paz Cultures, where he conveyed the act of inauguration, forums, expocisiones, interviews, presentation of the book "Great Power party Mayor of Los Andes", transmiciones vers previous ions of the party.

Question C.2

C.2. Assessment of its viability and current risks

Describe the current level of viability of the element, particularly the frequency and extent of its practice, the strength of traditional modes of transmission, the demographics of practitioners and audiences and its sustainability. Please also identify and describe the threats, if any, to the element's continued transmission and enactment and describe the severity and immediacy of such threats.

Since 1923, the celebration of the Lord Jesus Great Power takes place during the Holy Trinity, it is a religious celebration that takes place in the city of La Paz, in the high plateau of the Andes in Bolivia. It is held annually, on a Saturday in late May or early June, in honor of the image of the Christ with three faces. It is an essential source of strength that defines, transforms and stimulates the social life of La Paz each year like no other celebration, since it emanates from a particular way of understanding and living Andean Catholicism. Throughout an uninterrupted cycle, faithful couples receive the grace of the patron saint and become PRESTE: this is the catalyst for the celebration, bringing together devotees from different social groups, genders and generations. The devotees, the PRESTE and the festival are inseparable and complementary for 12 months, when they use elements of Andean reciprocity to successively reproduce the faith through an uninterrupted cycle of activities. This great procession is essential for the event, since the 40,000 devotees dance and sing as an offering or sacrifice to the patron saint. The dance has a sacred meaning for the 69 fraternities, which are received in the streets in an euphoric atmosphere where the music of 7,000 musicians from Bnadas Folkloricas resounds. The heavy dances begin with the Morenos, the festival's iconic dance, mixed with Waca Wacas, Kullawadas and Caporales light dances. Meanwhile, the native dances of Sikuris and Qhantus take us back to the origins of the Ch’ijini festival.

The next day, the members of the procession solemnly carry the patron saint on their shoulders in the Gran Poder district. The image advances in front of the devotees, who pay homage to it with incense, flowers and confetti.

Question C.3

C.3. Contribution to the goals of the List

Describe how the inscription of the element has contributed to ensuring visibility of the intangible cultural heritage and raising awareness at the local, national and international levels of its importance. Explain how its inscription has contributed to promoting respect for cultural diversity and human creativity, and mutual respect among communities, groups and individuals.

Historically, the Gran Poder festival has made a substantial contribution to the nomination for Intangible Cultural Heritage status. It has also served to increase the dissemination and recovery of Bolivian folk dances marginalized by certain social classes. The inscription on the ICH List will increase the visibility and dissemination of communion and celebration of cultural diversity expressed through various events and ceremonies each year. Each group ("fraternity") will ensure that this transmission continues from generation to generation. Unlike the past, the new generations will realize this from the respect for Cultural Diversity.

The feast of the Great Power fosters feelings of companionship among various social groups by raising awareness of the values of religious devotion. At the same time, the event will connect the diverse musical and dance traditions performed by members of the fraternity. The rise of the Great Power in Ch’ijini, a disadvantaged working-class neighborhood, has generated a historical memory of the struggles and demands of social classes and issues related to gender. Currently, the widespread presence of women in skirt skirts, the Cholas, is a triumph of this festival, since these women had previously been relegated to wearing male masks and playing a passive role. At the same time, the presence of gay men as highly visible characters is a contribution to the celebration and popular culture since they contribute to the aesthetics and politicization of the party.

Question C.4

C.4. Efforts to promote or reinforce the element

Describe the measures that have been implemented to promote and reinforce the element, particularly detailing any measures that might have been necessary as a consequence of its inscription.

The measures proposed to promote or reinforce the ICH have been organized around objectives that can be achieved, thanks to the political will and availability of the Association.

• Save the historical memory of the Gran Poder festival to enrich the expressions of popular religiosity and illustrate creativity through costumes, music and dance.

(a) Design and build the Museum of Great Power in the city of La Paz in order to centralize the collections of costumes, masks and jewelry, among other objects from different periods that are currently owned by private collectors, implementing new technologies to recover the voices and stories around these historical and artistic objects that have made this sociocultural construction possible.

(b) Acquire and increase collections with annual Gran Poder products (invitations, videos, musical records, fraternity souvenirs). Make acquisitions of private collections.

(c) Produce a historical video on the Great Power around the management of Andean reciprocity in the trajectories of the founding families, Prestes and Pasantes, since they were the ones that invested the most social and cultural capital. int or strengthen the Great Power. This is an informal broadcast medium.

(d) Implement a retrospective exhibition of the costumes of the Morenada del Gran Poder.

(e) Incorporate information on small devotional ceremonies before and after the Parade, respecting personal dominance.

• Improve the internal organization of the Gran Poder festival based on a five-year integrated planning process between the Association and the City of La Paz.

Question C.5

C.5. Community participation

Describe the participation of communities, groups and individuals as well as relevant non-governmental organizations in safeguarding the element and their commitment to its further safeguarding.

The Cultural Process of the Festival of the Holy Trinity of the Lord Jesus of the Great Power, involves the participation of different sectors of society, of various guilds, associations, fraternities and artistic and cultural groups about one and a half million people who indirectly relate to activity annually. Along the route, more than fifty groups perform numerous dances distributed in more than 20 specialties that obey different cultural processes for more than 20 continuous hours that parade along the route. At the state level, the Ministry of Cultures, Decolonization and Depatriarchalization promotes the broadcasting of the Great Power on TV Culturas to provide more information on the creativity that fraternities generate annually. It will also support the production of the videos that will be necessary for its promotion abroad. Meanwhile, the Departmental Cultural Advisory Unit will carry out periodic updates (every three years) of the Register of Artists and Cultural Agents.

At the level of the municipal government of La Paz, joint efforts will be made to the Association of Groups Folkloric of Great Power in order to create better conditions for the development of the festival and how it performed during the pandemic of the COVID 19 an entire Virtual Programming is made of activities related to the Great Power Festival.
