With the intergenerational efforts of Taijiquan bearers and practitioners, Taijiquan along with its everlasting life-force has been developed and transmitted in this place.

In recent years, our village has taken a series of initiatives to promote the safeguarding and transmission of the Chen School Taijiquan, including carrying out the maintenance and reparation of the former residences for Chen Wangting, the founder of Taijiquan; providing support for Taijiquan masters to recruit disciples and to build transmitting institutions; introducing Taijiquan exercise to the village elementary school; as well as facilitating collaboration with research institutions to enhance the documentation of digital recordings and interviews with local Taijiquan bearers.

In 2017, Chenjiagou Village, together with other six Taijiquan communities, established the Co-ordination Committees for the Safeguarding of Taijiquan to take common actions for the safeguarding and transmission of Taijiquan.

Since the beginning of the nomination of Taijiquan for inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity, the Villagers Committee has been informed in advance and voluntarily took part in the preparation work. Through collaboration with local Taijiquan bearers, practitioners and the villagers, we gave our full support to provide materials, shoot live videos, and so forth. The He School Taijiquan originated from Zhaobao Township, Wenxian County, Henan Province. The founder He Zhaoyuan learned with Chen Qingping, a well-known Taijiquan master in this town. Based on retaining the knowledge and skills of Taijiquan that the master imparted, He Zhaoyuan made some creative changes to the Taijiquan forms, supplementing the deficiencies, simplifying the cumbersome movements in the postures. The whole set of forms becomes simple and unadorned and quick to grasp.

In recent years, health and happiness has been brought to more and more people by the He School Taijiquan. While experiencing the traditional Chinese Tai Chi culture, practitioners have achieved the goal of having the body strengthened and keeping fit. The He School is a bridge of person-to-person communication. When people practice Taijiquan together, they feel delighted and their social satisfactions are significantly improved, which makes more people feel the charm of Taijiquan.

We hereby give our prior and informed consent to the nomination of Taijiquan for inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity. In 2017, we dispatched community representatives to take part in the preparation and establishment of the Co-ordination Committees for the Safeguarding of Taijiquan. During the process of elaborating the nomination file, we actively provided relevant information, cooperated with the filming of the video, and repeatedly solicited the opinions of Taijiquan practitioners and villagers in the community. In view of the Five-Year Plan for the Safeguarding of Taijiquan, we put forward our community's opinions and suggestions. In the future, our village will continue to support and participate in the safeguarding of the element, while make unremitting efforts for the intergenerational transmission of the He School Taijiquan.

My name is Zhu Tiancai, male, born in July 1945. I am a tradition-bearer of the 11th generation of the Chen School Taijiquan formed in Chenjiagou Village. I love Taijiquan since my childhood. I successively learned Taijiquan under the instructions of two masters Chen Zhaopi and Chen Zhaokui. I have comprehensively succeeded and mastered the related techniques and theories of taolu (routines) and methods of practicing with props in the Chen School Taijiquan.

After decades of studies on Taijiquan, combined with the needs of today’s society, I have carefully developed my own style of Taijiquan, one is called “Forty-Two Vigor-Generating Methods of Taijiquan” which is characteristic of fast pace, strong rhythm, and power enjoyed by the young people; the another one is called “Practicing Taiji Kongfu with Chinese Fans” which is more than welcome among the middle-aged and elderly people. When I instruct my apprentices or trainees, I insist on teaching them to be a good person before practicing Taijiquan. It is required every disciple who intends to learn Taijiquan must grasp the methods of reading good books first; when they understand the right ideas in the books, their learning of Taijiquan naturally becomes easy. I always stress that those who learn Taijiquan skills should not be arrogant; every practitioner should practice Taijiquan in the cultured and refined manner; if one became conceited in body behaviors, he or she would be destined to lose balance in innermost being.

I am very excited on learning that Taijiquan is nominated for inscription on the Representative List of Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity. This is my expectation over the years, and I have always been persistent in participating in the process of preparing the nomination. I am willing to do my best to support the on-going undertakings and to make my own contribution to the better safeguarding of the element.

I am now a junior student in the first grade at the Experimental Middle School of Wenxian County. As earlier as I was a pupil in the first grade of primary school, local schools began to popularize Taijiquan. In my memory, our school issued a textbook titled with "Taijiquan" for each pupil, which contained taolu or routines, a set of movements, as well as many stories about Taijiquan.

From the gym teacher and the textbook of Taijiquan, I understand why I want to learn Taijiquan: since it has been a cultural carrier of meaningful broadness and profundness, enabling us to become smart and healthy, and grow up sturdily.

I have learned to practice the Chen School Taijiquan with my gym teacher for three years so far. Moreover, I participated in the Summer Youth Taijiquan Competition held in the county in 2016 and won an excellent award.

My name is He Huichao, female, 27 years old. I am the seventh-generation bearer of the He School Taijiquan. After obtaining a master's degree in Ethnic Traditional Sports from Henan University, I am currently working at the School of Physical Education, Henan Polytechnic University.

I was born in a family with a lineage of transmitting Taijiquan. My father He Youlu have always told me to carry forward the He School Taijiquan transmitted by our clan. History has placed great responsibilities on us, the younger generation should be brave enough to shoulder the important responsibilities for Tai Chi cultural development. I have a deeper understanding of Tai Chi as a part of the traditional Chinese culture, influenced by what I have constantly watched and heard since my childhood and also by the systematic study of traditional martial arts at the university. Culture comes from life and returns to life. This is the reason that culture is passed down from generation to generation. The cultural transmission is inseparable from people's participation. The nomination of Taijiquan for inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity will strongly promote the dissemination of Taijiquan. I am informed of the nomination work, while I actively support and participate in the nomination work.

My name is Li Kangfeng, male, 14 years old. I am studying at Xinyu Junior Middle School, Wenxian County, Henan Province. I have been practicing Taijiquan for several years. Through practice, I think Taijiquan can not only exercise my body well, but also cultivate my hobbies and interests, so that I can form a better concentration. Taijiquan is not merely for the middle-aged and elderly people, it should be transmitted and promoted by our teenagers. Taijiquan is not only the movement of the body, but it is also an exercise of thinking and a training of personality.

Since my teacher told me that the nomination of Taijiquan for inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity has been lunched, I feel very, very proud to be one of the practitioners of Taijiquan. I also told this news to other children who practiced Tai Chi with me, as well as my family. We are all very happy. We cheer for the on-going nomination for inscription on the Representative List.

In the future, I will continue to practice Taijiquan, learn more knowledge of Taijiquan, and improve the level of skills. When I grow up, I hope I can participate more in the transmission of Taijiquan.

My name is Li Xiaofang, female, 36 years old.

When I was a teenager, I got to know about Taijiquan. At that time, I often saw people practicing Taijiquan in the park next to my home, and some of my family members practicing Taijiquan too. In 2013, I had the honor to get acquainted with He Youlu, the representative bearer and master of the He School Taijiquan. From then on, I have been attached to Taijiquan and become a Taijiquan practitioner. Through these years of practice, I deeply felt that Taijiquan is good for the regulation of physical and mental health.

Have been informed of the nomination of Taijiquan for inscription on the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity, I was thrilled with the news and wanted to give my full support. As a female practitioner, I offered some suggestions on how to safeguard and how to develop the He School Taijiquan in the near future. In the days to come, I would like to continue to contribute my own modest strength to the safeguarding of the element. In addition, we should not only practice by ourselves, but also encourage people around us to participate in the practice of Taijiquan, while doing my utmost to carry forward the He School Taijiquan.

我在少年的时候就知道了太极拳，当时我经常看到在我家旁边的公园里有人习练太极拳，我的家人也有人习练太极拳，2013年，我有幸结识了一位太极拳代表性传承人和有名大师，从此便与太极拳结缘，成为一名太极拳练习者。通过这几年的习练，我深深感受到太极拳对身心健康的调节大有好处。
太极拳被列入申报人类非物质文化遗产代表作名录，我得知这一消息后很激动，并全力支持。关于和氏太极拳今后如何保护、如何发展，我以一名女性习练者的身份，同参与此次申报材料审核的工作人员提供了一些建议。
今后，我愿继续为保护太极拳贡献自己微薄的力量。此外，不光是自己练习，还要鼓励身边人参与到太极拳的练习当中，为和氏太极拳的发展壮大尽一份力量。
