Has been actively contributing to safeguard and transmission of the element, intangible cultural heritage in general, becoming the leading institution in the field of Traditional Turkic Archery in Turkey since 2013. The Archers Foundation carries out cultural and artistic organizations, projects related to researching, academic publishing for safeguarding of the ich elements. By inventory-making the living masters of Traditional Turkic Archery, the Foundation provides new ateliers to the masters for training and transmitting the element to new apprentices and practitioners who will safeguard the element and related craftsmanship for the next generations. The Archers Foundation, with its experienced and high-energy team, who is proud to share their knowledge and experience in every field, is sensitive to the safeguard and transmit the Traditional Turkic Archery by organizing its activities in line with this purpose.

• 2013-2021, International Conquest Cup: Referring to 1453, which is the original foundation date of the Archers Foundation, the world’s largest archery competition is held every year between 26-29 May. Nearly 800 athletes from over 50 countries participate only for the final contests of the competition. The average participation of the organization is over 2000 people, together with the elimination standards held in various regions. The International Conquest Cup is held not only as an archery event, but also in a celebration and festive mood.

• Kemankesh (Archer) Project: Kemankesh Turkic Archery project was applied in 36 countries within the framework of the cooperation protocol between the Archers Foundation and Yunus Emre Institute. In the first stage, the courses, which are held in the regions where the countries are most populated and where cultural interaction is intense, are now aimed to spread to other provinces of the countries. Within the framework of the project, the training processes of the Archers Foundation are organized, and the nationwide participants provide the continuity by organizing Traditional Turkic Archery courses in their countries. Within the scope of the project, hundreds of participants come to Istanbul every year and provide a cultural dialogue, interaction and share their experiences, knowledge and skills in line with the 2003 Convention.

• Archery is My Sport: Within the scope of the project carried out with the Provincial Directorates of National Education, a training protocol has been signed in order to train both Modern and Traditional Turkic Archery in schools to transmit and safeguard the element. Between 2017 -2021, 1053 students were trained, and Traditional Turkic Archery was performed by thousands of young students in 201 schools.

• Anniversary Events of the Malazgirt Victory: Since 2017, the Intangible Cultural Heritage has been exhibited in all aspects of the Malazgirt Victory Anniversary Events, which has strengthened the sense of historical and cultural continuity of the society at the national level and celebrated in an important festival atmosphere. In addition to archery competitions, horseback archery shows and other events, the anniversary events have become a meeting point for the masters, bearers and practitioners who are involved in various fields of the element. The traditional craftsmanship and arts related to archery are promoted and performed in various branches such as calligraphy and illumination manuscript.

• Archery Workshop: In 2017, the first workshop in which athletes, academicians and instructors related to Traditional Turkic Archery are organized. The decisions made at the end of the workshop are carried out in practice. The organization has enhanced the raising awareness and visibility of Intangible Cultural Heritage and its 2003 Convention.

• Archery R & D Laboratory: The world’s first archery research and development laboratory, which became operational in 2018, examines the technical details of Traditional Turkic Archery and provides new contributions which is important for human creativity.

• Archery Research Institute: The Archery research center, which was officially founded in 2017, carries out its work with four researchers and one director. It provides support to young researchers engaged in academic activities in this field by carrying out activities related to intangible cultural heritage such as organizing workshops, symposiums, panels, conferences, publish copyrighted materials. "...When you draw a bow, you did not draw, but God did it..." Enfal/17

Our civilization, which was established with the energy, aesthetics, material and spiritual accumulation from history, rich geographies and finally Islam, is at the same time a civilization of conquest and struggle. This civilization line has come to the present day without interruption since the pre-Islamic Central Asian periods. Our civilization is like the uninterrupted journey of an arrow thrown from ancient times and a distant geography and searching for its destination. This goal is in the range that we will reach on the last day of humanity. It will come to an end with the conquest of eternity.

This feeling of conquest has always made space for itself in the meaning of our lives in our dream art, in our contemplation, in the delight and in the expedition. The conquest came sometimes with words, sometimes with a heartfelt folk song, sometimes with a pen, sometimes with a sword, and sometimes with an arrow. One of the countless instruments of conquest, challenge, struggle, patience, and focus on the goal is the arrow.

The sport of archery, which is filtered from the intricacies of the human soul and wrist, is perfect for spirit and body training. All the necessary aspects of war and victory have become common in the art of archery. Wisdom, patience, attention, a keen eye, a strong wrist, a firm breath, the ability to save nature and faith. Archery starts with believing that the arrow will hit the target.

According to Abdurrahman Taberi, who wrote the history of the arrow, the arrow was first written by Hz. Adam used it. In this state, it is one of the sciences that Allah teaches. It is one of the first occupations of human beings. The first means of survival, the first hobby, the first sport, the first recreation...The arrow has a great place in human history.

Archery, Prophet Adam’s legacy, the circumcision of the Prophet Muhammad, the life and struggle practice of the ancestors, today’s modern sport are meditation tools to our souls. Aesthetics, technique and nature have joined forces with archery. Wood, metal and human labor have become one in archery. The archer is not just a warrior, sportsman, and craftsman who shoots an arrow. He is a dervish who has imbued his personality, rested his soul and educated his soul. In other words, he is a real gentleman.

Ancient Greek philosophers thought a lot about archery. Our ancestors said that the arrow is out of the bow for irreversible matters. Our world of poetry is full of arrow and bow symbols. The name of Yahya Kemal Beyatlı’s only poem written with syllables is Ok and it is the glorious story of an archer who became a veteran in the conquest.

In Sultan Fatih Shooters Lodge (Tekke-i Rumat), archery fused Sufi wisdom and physical skill with spiritual maturity. Archery is in the poetry of bards from Karacaoğlan to Beyhani.

Arrow is a heirloom of prophets to Islamic societies. The Prophet praised Sa’d bin Ebi Vakkas, the most talented archers, many times. In one of his hadith, he said, "The best thing you can do when you grieve is to put your bow and shoot an arrow and dissipate your sorrow. The history of the arrow is blessed, rich and colorful.

The art of archery, which shapes and calms people, brings out the gems hidden in their nature and adds them to their life, is both an ancient weapon and a modern time sport. In other words, if we look at its adventure spanning the ages, archery is a contract between our civilization and nature.

Schools were established to strengthen and train the art of archery in the periods when we were loyal to this contract, that is, in the glorious periods of our history. One of the most meaningful and powerful archery schools of our civilization, which established dervish lodges, barracks and raised masters, was established in Okmeydani by Fatih Sultan Mehmet.

Sultan Fatih gave special importance to this place, where he established his province after the conquest of Istanbul. Okmeydani, which became a lodge and living center during the reign of Sultan Bayezid II, had become one of the liveliest areas of the city. Okmeydani, the center of sports, worship, respect, education, culture and education, carried these characteristics for hundreds of years. It was passed on to the generations that followed.

The archers trained here were taught humility, patience, submission, and the desire for victory accompanied by verses and hadiths. Over the centuries the most skillful archers of our history have come and gone from this lodge. Generations that were successful in war, peaceful in peace and victorious in the competition were raised. The desire for conquest, the circle of decency, the reverence of ancestors, the strength of the wrist were the pillars that kept this school alive.

The revitalization of the Okçular/Archery School, which has served for centuries with a foundation culture in Okmeydani but lost its character in time like every institution, is indispensable to make the generations of today and the future love archery and to live the virtues associated with archery. While our history regains its glory and the whole world pays attention to our country's word, it is an obligation to revive the convention that revitalizes archery.

The universal values in archery appeal to all ages and ages of human beings. Archery, which was the dynamic of war in one age, and sports in another age became a means of national solidarity, patience and therapy.
